

GEOLOGIC MAP OF THE ARCHES NATIONAL PARK AREA

GRAND COUNTY, UTAH

Q Surficial deposits	Jem Moab Tongue	ƒw Wingate Sandstone
Km Mancos Shale	Je Entrada Sandstone	ƒcm Chinle-Moenkopi Formations
Kcd Dakota-Cedar Mtn. Fms.	Jƒn Navajo Sandstone	Pc Cutler Formation
Jm Morrison Formation	ƒk Kayenta Formation	P Hermosa-Paradox Formations

Contact
 _____

Fault
 _____

Dashed where approximate, dotted where covered; bar and ball on downthrown side.

Arches National Park is one of the geologic wonders of the world. It has the greatest concentration of stone arches on the earth developed around a salt anticline. An accumulation of nearly 10,000 feet of salt is found in the subsurface underneath parts of the park (Salt Valley anticline).

Utah Geological Survey • 1594 W. North Temple, Ste. 3110 • Salt Lake City, Utah 84116 • (801) 537-3300 • www.ugs.state.ut.us

UTAH GEOLOGICAL SURVEY
Department of Natural Resources
State of Utah

FIRST CLASS
POSTAGE
REQUIRED