Snow Canyon State Park near St. George in the southwest corner of Utah has the basalts, Kayenta Formation, and Navajo Sandstone that make spectacular scenery throughout southern Utah. Of special interest are the cinder cones and lava tubes. The small park charm and geologic vistas make it a fine recreation area.